4. Written Feedback

4.1) What were the strengths of this course and/or instructor?

- Always used clearly written slides
- Good at explaining material
- Instructor explained the course requirements very well and stimulated interest from the students a lot. She cares about the students very much and wants them to do well and understand a lot of information from her class.
- Knows how to make the class interesting
- The instructor is very kind, relatable, and approachable.
- The professor used real life examples to illustrate the principle she was about to teach. It was a really helpful tool to introduce the idea before the technical terms and rules.
- The professor was engaging, she was energetic and enthusiastic about the course.
- Very clear and knowledgeable in explaining relative topics.
- Very energetic and outgoing.
- Very excited about the subject and makes the class interesting especially since microeconomics isn't the funnest subject.
- Very interested in the topic and truly wants students to know.
- she's great at helping the students out
- very interested in the topics discussed. shows care for students and makes sure everything will be understood.

4.2) What were the weaknesses of this course and/or instructor?

- I don't necessarily like the final assignment (active learning) and would rather just have a final
- Instructor seemed a bit unorganized with her schedule for the semester as she wasn't able to finish some of the topics.
- None
- None really, did very well for her first year.
- Nothing comes to mind.
- Organization of the online textbook and assignments was rough to get used to, better to have work due in class.
- Quite often class discussions on the material will turn political (which is expected in any class) but in a particularly pronounced way that I personally feel detracts from the course's subject matter.
- Sometimes she's not clear with what's she's teaching and it's sometimes hard to understand.
- The professor gave a lot of quizzes and assignments on Blackboard.
- There wasn't enough time to cover all the material planned, though I would say the snow days had a lot to do with that as well.
- They was no weakness
- Too much work. Quizzes and assignments for every chapter take too long. One 20 question quiz for each chapter would have been better.
- When slides are posted on blackboard they are posted by day of lecture instead of by chapter which would be easier
- its a lot of information to fit into one semester. but she did a great job
- we sometimes went off topic and lost time

4.3) Use this space for any additional comments.

- Great teacher
- I did not like the online textbook. I felt it was vague and it was hard to look for specific definitions or examples. I honestly would have preferred a physical text.
- Prof. Dolar is excellent. She is so enthusiastic and excited about what she is teaching and it really makes such a difference. This was literally my first economics class and I actually loved it!
- loved this class very fun and full with knowledge
- this is my second semester with Professor Dolar ! I Had to take her again she's really great!!
